Dawson Creek, BC

Artist Statement: “Maps reflect the intention of the mapmaker and can limit the intention of the user. In my region, maps have become factual. This boundary is here. This resource is here. This is owned by... I consider all maps to be stories; occasionally, and mostly by accident, they become true. Water talk is a map of my making. It is a story about a river valley northeast of Rolla. The birch bark and text was gathered during a walk by the river, and the clay and barbed wire were collected from the river and surrounding area.”

“DOWN THE

ROXANNE BRAAM

Artist Statement:
“When I paint, it's without much thought. While I had an idea to play with water and had a colour pallet in mind, the outcome was a surprise to me. I'm also not that self aware when I paint, and when I looked at the final piece I was reminded of blood being washed down the drain. Morbid, but I look at it as taking all the negative things I had been feeling and doing away with them. Painting is a cathartic release; sometimes I don't know how badly I need it until I'm done.”

“MILES TO GO”

FRANCES
OBIE

Fort St. John, BC

Artist Statement: “The inspiration for this painting came from summer road trips made around the Peace Region, traveling at the time of day when the sky is glowing and alive with color. Massive cloud formations would stretch across the sky making the traveler feel diminutive in comparison. The title, “Miles to Go,” is borrowed from the Robert Frost poem, “Stopping by the Woods on a Snowy Evening,” and suggests, as the poem does, that although the traveler would like to stop and enjoy the beauty before him, he is obliged to keep going until he reaches his destination.”

PEACE LIARD REGIONAL ARTS COUNCIL

The Peace Liard Regional Arts Council serves six regional arts councils in the Peace Liard region of northeastern British Columbia.

Our mandate is to raise awareness and to support the development and acceptance of arts and culture, both on a personal and community level, in the Peace Region.

PROGRAMS AND RESOURCES

Regional Juried Art Exhibition

Held annually at one of the six PLRAC member locations, the Regional Juried Art Exhibition provides an opportunity for regional artists to exhibit their work throughout the Peace River and Northern Rockies regions. Each year, a piece of artwork is added to our Permanent Collection.

Artist Q&As

Each month individual regional artists are featured on the PLRAC website through a series of interviews that capture their creative spirit and process. Check it out at: www.peaceliardarts.org

COMMUNITY EVENTS IN THE REGION

Our Facebook page and our website keep members up-to-date on the many community events that take place throughout our region each year.
